since

the check is to round up more than 15,000 deserters from the army and over 7,000 Formosan recruits who have failed to make proper register as required, and, in general, to conscript all men between 18 and 30 who are not engaged in essential work.

The fact that many soldiers recruited in 1950 died of starvation and disease and the fear that, once inducted, they will be unable to leave military service has reportedly made the Formosans hide out by the thousands.

EASTERN EUROPE

6. Ambassador Allen recommends small military mission to administer Yugoslavia aid program:

Ambassador Allen believes that there are strong reasons against the immediate establishment of a standard military mission in Belgrade to supervise the US military assistance program.

Chief of Staff Popovic strongly opposes the idea for administrative reasons and Allen believes that the proposal will be resisted on political grounds as well.

Allen also doubts that the contemplated mission of approximately fifty men would find suitable Yugoslav working counterparts. He favors, therefore, the establishment of a nucleus of a mission, consisting of possibly ten or fifteen men, within the staff of the present US service attaches to carry out normal MAAG functions. If this proposal is adopted, Allen intends to explain to Tito that the group must have direct access to Yugoslav staff organs rather than having to deal with the Yugoslav foreign liaison unit, which is the case for attaches.

Comment: The Defense Department has proposed a military mission of at least fifty men to handle the US arms aid program for Yugoslavia. Chief of Staff Popovic recommended, during his recent visit to the US, that the staff of US service attaches in Belgrade be expanded to handle the aid program.

WESTERN EUROPE

25X1A 7. France approves suspension of Czech overflight privileges:

spokesman.

The French Cabinet on 22 August approved a suspension of Czech overflight privileges in Western Germany as a measure of solidarity with the US, according to a Foreign Office

The spokesman added that the French have had no satisfaction whatever from the Czech Government in the cases of two French citizens now serving long-term sentences.

Comment: Within the past two weeks, the French rejected US proposals to suspend overflight privileges and withdraw tariff concessions from the Czechs, apparently because of concern for the economic losses involved. The reversal of the French position may be intended in part to strengthen France's hand in holding out for exceptions to export control arrangements.
